3. Mr. Warner called from the Hill to say that Mr. Max Lehrer of the Senate Space Committee staff is interested in obtaining information on identification cards and badges and the cost of producing the same. At Mr. Warner's request, I contacted Colonel Edwards who is making two men from his office available to talk with Lehrer on this subject. In a subsequent conversation I had with Lehrer, he said he had been quoted a cost estimate of $500 for 100 badges in leather folders. This appeared to him to be extremely expensive. He intimated that if we could assist him in any way in producing these badges they would appreciate it, but he was not formally requesting us to do so. Mr. Lehrer is to call us when it is convenient for him to get together with us.

4. Bill Lowell of the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee staff says he was somewhat confused concerning some of the dates given in [redacted]. At my suggestion, [redacted] was to call [redacted] to assist him on these dates.
